

Edgefield Advertiser.

Dr. Joseph G. Camp Coming to Our County.

Several years ago Dr. Joseph Camp spoke in the Edgefield opera house under the Lyceum auspices. It was a very inclement night, and there was but a handful of people in the opera house. Those who heard Dr. Camp were so impressed with his eloquence and scholarship that they wished, some of them, many times, that somewhere, it would be their good pleasure to hear him again.

Dr. Camp has been employed by the State W. C. T. U. as one of the campaign speakers for South Carolina at considerable expense to the organization, and he will touch a few points in our county as he enters from Augusta.

He will make an address at Clark's Hill on the 1st of September at the Woman's Missionary Union.

On Friday night, the 3rd, Dr. Camp will speak at Parksville, and we hope the people of the section will not fail to hear him, and give him a good and appreciative audience. Dr. Camp goes from Parksville to Allendale, where he will make two Sunday addresses at the State W. C. T. U. convention.

He will speak at the W. M. U., of Ridge association, on the afternoon of the 8th, and at Trenton the same night.

On the 9th the W. C. T. U. of Batesburg expect to hold a very enthusiastic prohibition rally with music of children, poster parade and brass band, and Dr. Camp will make the address on this occasion.

He will address an audience at Saluda on the 10th, and at Aiken on Sunday evening, the 12th.

The following are some of the testimonials of Dr. Camp:

Dr. J. B. Hawthorne, one of the South's foremost pulpits orators, said: "I have heard Joseph G. Camp when his wonderful eloquence almost hypnotized me."

William D. Upshaw, editor of the Golden Age, says: "For rich, radiant, ringing eloquence, I have rarely, if ever, heard the equal of Hon. Joseph G. Camp; and he has a golden heart as the dynamo of his eloquent tongue."

In forty towns in Florida Hon. Joseph G. Camp, Georgia's great prohibition orator, did superb work, winning the people often where other speakers had failed. I can hardly find words strong enough to voice our appreciation.—Miss Minnie Neal, President Fla. W. C. T. U.

Hon. Clark Howell, editor Atlanta Constitution says: "I regard Joseph G. Camp the most finished orator in Georgia to-day."

Woman's Missionary Union.

In another column will be found the program of the annual Woman's Missionary Union which meets at Clark's Hill on the 31st of August and 1st of September. The participants in this program are for the most part, well known to all the women of our association, but there are two of whom special mention must be made. On the evening program of August 31, a very great opportunity will be ours of hearing Dr. Pendleton Jones of Edgefield preach a missionary sermon. Dr. Jones loves this subject, and will charm every one who listens, so we hope that everyone who can possibly do so will arrange before leaving home, to stay for both days in order to hear Dr. Jones on the first evening.

On the second afternoon, Dr. Joseph G. Camp of Atlanta will make an address on prohibition, "South Carolina divorced and redeemed from liquor." For this occasion, arrangements will be made for an open air meeting, beginning promptly at 3 o'clock, so that everybody can stay and hear the address, and reach home if necessary before night. Dr. Camp has the highest testimonials, and is engaged continuously on Chautauquas and with the lyceums, coming directly from the north-west where he has been for two months to Clark's Hill especially to be with us on this auspicious occasion. The public and the citizens of surrounding communities are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Tobacco Temperance.

Over $700,000,000 is spent annually in the United States for tobacco. This is more than any other nation in the world consumes and ranks close up to other notable intemperance performances of the American public. Previous to the discovery of America tobacco was unknown and it is altogether doubtful if any industry in all the world's history has made such marvelous progress as that gained by the tobacco business.

To add further to the situation figures indicate that the use of nicotine-making products as on the increase, despite the fact that it may be quite rightly termed a luxury. Unless widespread attacks are made on its use the weed bids fair to usurp liquors in point of expenditure, especially in view of the fact that prohibition is being so persistently pushed to the forefront.

The figures for the past year show that Americans spent $446,000,000 for cigars, $73,000,000 for cigarettes, $157,000,000 for smoking and chewing tobacco, and $24,000,000 for snuff.

It is reported authentically that five times the quantity of cigarettes is used in the United States now as there was ten years ago, and the increase in domestic manufactured cigarettes almost supplied the entire increase, the percentage of increase in a decade being 450 per cent. Chewing tobacco is just about holding its own, but cigars continue to show a rapid increase, but, of course, not so great as that of cigarettes.

In the South Atlantic states the increase in growing tobacco has been quite notable during the past two or three years and had not cotton advanced to such a high figure some ten to fifteen years ago there is no doubt but that Georgia and Florida would have been quite large growers. Under present conditions Georgia especially is expected to greatly increase tobacco acreage.—Augusta Chronicle.
